Unanimous vote to suspend Wilbur without pay

By Edward J. Cooney

MILLBURY - Following a closed session, the School Committee voted unanimously to suspend Millbury High Math and Social Studies Teacher and Athletic Director David Wilbur without pay for the remainder of the school year, pending the outcome of grand jury indictments against Wilbur on two counts of child rape and one count of indecent assault on a minor.

On March 16, the Committee voted to place Wilbur on a six week paid administrative leave; that leave ended April 29. The committee's action came under Mass. General Laws Chapter 268A, sec. 25 that allows suspension, without pay, of an employee under indictment. The law also allows for the recovery of lost pay and insurance and retirement benefits upon a verdict of not guilty. The law states that a suspension under this section shall not in any way be used to prejudice the rights of the suspended person either civilly or criminally.

The Committee also moved to another executive session to consider filing complaints with the District Attorney's office against Wilbur "and others" over allegations of violations of the Uniform Procurement Act in not following procedures for seeking bids on purchases of medical supplies from American Data Products. An internal investigation by the School Department also turned up information that Wilbur accepted gifts from American Data Products. Wilbur has acknowledged acceptance of two TV's, a camcorder a VCR and a telephone answering machine. He has returned those gifts, which were at his home, to the High School.

Following almost an hour of discussion behind closed doors, Committee Chairman Chet Hanratty read a statement that the Committee had decided not to file any complaints at this time. Hanratty would not answer any questions after reading the statement.

Windle Field

The Committee then continued with its regular agenda and met with Jonathan Windle, Chairman of the Windle Field Board of Trustees, who agreed to a change in lease terms for Windle Field from three to five years. The Committee voted unanimously to accept a five year lease on the Windle Field use as agents for the Town. Windle responded "No" to a question of whether he and the trustees would accept inclusion of additional land as part of the new lease. The new section would have included the land portion abutting the tennis courts, the right of way off Canal Street and the land fronting Canal Street. Windle did say he was happy with the way the field itself was being maintained and also that portion of land bordering the tennis courts and Canal Street.

Adult Education

In other matters, the Committee met with Adult Education Director Robert Sullivan concerning his request for an increase in fees for registration for adult education courses offered in the spring and fall at the high school. Sullivan said he was not made aware until recently that his salary would have to come from the revolving account made up of revenues generated by the registration fees. He suggested that an increase of $5 for each course and an additional fee for out of town registrants be adopted to help defray the cost of his salary as Director and also to make the program self supporting.

Hanratty noted that two years ago, the Town Auditor told the Committee that the Director's salary could not come from the regular school budget as it had in the past but must come from the revolving account or by vote at town meeting.

Pojani asked Sullivan if he could produce a list or a total number of people who have taken adult education courses who came from out of town.

Sullivan replied that he could not at this time, but would in the future. He also said the adult ed program has seen an increase in participation over the past several years.

Preschoolers Design Friendship Quilt

CHRONICLE photos by Alexander A. Belisle

MILLBURY - A cooperative effort between the Elmwood Street, High School and Federated Church preschools resulted in the friendship quilt shown above on display at the Millbury Public Library. The project was part of "Week of the Young Child," an annual celebration sponsored nationally by the National Association for Education of The Young Children (NAEYC). Each of the children in the preschools completed a quilt square of their own design.

MBTA Meeting brings few answers

By Edward J. Cooney

MILLBURY - The MBTA Citizens Advisory Committee met with MBTA representatives and area legislators on April 29 in the hope of receiving answers to questions raised months ago by the committee over a proposal to site an MBTA commuter rail station in East Millbury.

Present were Rocco Mancini, Asst. Director for Design and Construction for the MBTA; MBTA Project Manager James Eng; William Vernon, director of intergovernmental regulations for the MBTA; representatives from Edwards and Kelsey, Consulting Engineers. Also present representing the Central Mass. Area Legislative Caucus were Senator Matthew Amorello, Representative Paul Kollios and Representative Kevin O'Sullivan.

Advisory Committee Vice Chairman Warren Senecal called attention to the fact that his committee has not received any answers to numerous concerns. "We are upset that we have gotten no information over the last eight months," Senecal said. "There hasn't been anything concrete."

Those concerns included questions over a Route 20 access route, the cumulative impacts to residential neighborhoods (especially traffic), costs for town services, and any potential financial assessments.

Mancini said the MBTA representatives were present "to see if the process was moving in the direction the Committee wanted. I'll report back to the Director so the process can go forward," he said. "We want to satisfy all your questions."

Committee members looking at the schematic drawing prepared by Edwards and Kelsey differed strongly with the proposed location of a Route 20 access route which they said was drawn too closely to the "Big Y" Supermarket entrance on Rte 20.

Committee member Margaret Lavallee said the area proposed was too dangerous and in a narrow location.

Committeeman Joseph Bianculli expressed similar concerns, noting that the Sunderland Road/Route 20 traffic light is also located near the proposed access road.

Lavallee suggested that the road be located more westerly towards the present train overpass on Route 20. "There are buildings there that have "For Lease" signs on them," she said.

Bianculli agreed, noting that the MBTA's proposed access road is long and snakes its way from Rte 20 through the back of a building. He said it could be shortened by approximately 1000 feet if moved westerly.

A Mr. Herlihy, representing Edwards & Kelsey, said the slopes and ledge could be a problem and some wetlands may need to be replicated.

Bianculli said the Town of Millbury is familiar with the roads and said the grade need not be that steep.

Herlihy said the alternate route off Rte 20 could add another $1 million to the cost of the project.

It was again noted that a route more to the west would cut off 1000 feet from Herlihy's proposal.

Herlihy then said the location proposed by the Committee has some development value and the access road in that location would chop up that land.

Bianculli said the map shown tonight disagrees with another map and with the committee's experience from walking the area.

Herlihy said the Rte 20 proposal needs more study and that a traffic analysis might be of some help. "We have to do more investigation," he said.

Committee members expressed concern that the effort

Thank You...

Many thanks to all the citizens who in any way participated in making it possible to have Recall and Referendum Petitions as part of the democratic process in Millbury.

To the voters of Millbury:

My heartfelt thanks go to all of you who voted for me during the town election on April 27th. I ran the race, but came up just a little bit short of the finish line. As a first time candidate, I am very pleased to have received an overwhelming 47% of your vote. It's heartwarming to know that so many people have the same convictions as I do regarding their children's education.

I feel that during the next year these same exact issues will be even more of a concern to all parents and children (multiculturalism, sexuality, etc). I am committed to learn more about these complex issues facing us. Again, I am encouraged to pursue a position on the School Committee in next year's election. I will be looking forward to communicating with more of you during the coming year, and we can all become more aware of what our kids are learning in school. I am open to, and willing to answer (or find answers to) any questions you have.

Amorello outlines focus

BOSTON - Senator Matthew J. Amorello (R-Grafton) has urged the Legislature's Joint Committee on Local Affairs to act quickly in favor of the Town of Sutton's proposal to make the Cemetery Commission an appointed town board. "The people of Sutton have clearly stated their desire to have the Cemetery Commissioners be appointed by the selectmen, and the state should do its best to accommodate the will of the community," he said. Under the bill, the current elected Cemetery Commission would be replaced by a three-member board appointed by the Selectmen for three-year terms. Appointments would be staggered to allow one person to be appointed each year. Members of the current board would continue to serve in office until the expiration of their current terms.

Amorello has also proposed establishing a statewide Task Force on Vocational and Technical Education to examine methods of improving Voc Ed programs in Massachusetts. His proposal envisions a Blue Ribbon panel of Vocational Education administrators and educators, members of the Governor's cabinet, interested state legislators, and private-sector professionals whose industries reap the greatest benefits from vocational training programs.

In other matters, Amorello has asked the legislature's Joint Committee on Health Care to give its approval to a comprehensive bill aimed at removing hazardous lead paint from dwellings in Massachusetts. Amorello said he is especially supportive of a provision in the legislation, House Bill 1823, that would increase the tax credit for lead paint removal from $1,000 to $2,500 per unit.

Amorello has also called upon the full legislature to ratify the Rivers Protection act as reported by Ways and Means, "so that we may begin to repair the damage being done to our state's rivers. Every day we delay is a missed opportunity to protect our environment," he said.

In other action, Amorello said he has urged the Legislature's Committee on Human Services to approve a bill he is co-sponsoring with Sen. Arthur Chase (R-Worcester) to honor former Prisoners of War from Massachusetts. Spouses of deceased POWs would also be eligible to receive this honor.

Beacon Hill Roll Call

BOSTON - This week's "Beacon Hill Roll Call" records the votes of Senator Matthew Amorello (R-Grafton) on two roll calls from the week of April 26-30. Both roll calls are on proposed amendments to the Senate version of a $336 million additional spending package for fiscal 1993. The House passed its own version of this supplemental budget earlier in the year and a conference committee is hammering out a compromise package.

Also listed are the votes of Representatives Richard Moore (D-Uxbridge) and Paul Kollios (D-Millbury) on two roll calls from the week of April 26-30.

ANTI-SMOKING FUNDS (S 1581) Senate 20-17, approved an amendment to a budget item providing $20 million from the increased 25 cent per package cigarette tax increase for a media campaign on the dangers of cigarette smoking. The amendment would divert $5 million into a grant program to assist communities in implementing a Drug Awareness and Resistance Education (DARE) program in middle schools. The DARE program would be run by local and state police officers and would offer students the skills necessary to resist drug use and teach them the health risks of cigarette smoking. Amendment supporters said the remaining $15 million is more than adequate for a media campaign. They argued the $5 million earmarked for DARE is needed to focus locally in schools on drug and cigarette smoking prevention programs aimed at 12 to 14 year olds. Opponents urged senators to honor the voters' demand to spend the increased cigarette tax revenue exclusively on anti-smoking programs. They argued that similar TV ad blitzes in other states have resulted in reduced smoking among young people. Amorello voted against diverting $5 million to DARE.

LANDFILLS (S 1581) Senate 28-10, approved an amendment delaying for 2 1/2 years, the January 1, 1994 state mandated closing of unlined landfills. The amendment does allow the state, however, to immediately close any unlined landfills which are determined to be polluting. Amendment supporters said this will give 80 cash starved cities and towns an additional 30 months until June 1996 to meet this state mandate which will cost the communities close to $100 million. They noted some communities contend their unlined landfills are safe. Opponents said these unlined landfills must be closed quickly because they are contaminating water supplies. They argued the delay is also unfair to the 130 communities which have gone to the expense of cleaning up their landfills. Amorello voted against the 2 1/2 year delay.

POLICE AND FIREFIGHTERS (H 1907) House 124-24, gave initial approval to a bill allowing laid off police officers and firefighters who are rehired to be credited with active service for their period of unemployment. The measure permits these employees to back pay what they owe for that period into the retirement fund and eventually receive increased seniority and retirement benefits. Supporters said these public safety officers who risk their lives daily should not be denied good pensions because of cutbacks which caused their layoffs. Opponents said the bill allows these public employees to collect benefits for periods during which they were not employed. They argued the measure will also add to the unfunded pension liability problem. The bill needs another round of House approval before it goes to the Senate. Moore and Kollios voted for the bill.

COMMITTEE REPORTS House 124-21, approved an order extending from April 28 to May 12, the deadline for committees to act on bills. Supporters said committees need more time to act on thousands of bills because of a late start and a shortage of hearing rooms. Opponents said committees have had sufficient time to act on bills and claimed these endless extensions and delays are the reason the legislature remains in session 12 months a year. The Senate approved the extension on a voice vote. Moore and Kollios voted for the extension to May 12.

COMING UP ON BEACON HILL

SCHOOL EXPULSION - Governor Weld has filed a bill allowing principals to suspend or expel students for crimes committed off school grounds. The bill was filed in response to the recent case in which a Billerica high school student convicted of murder was allowed to return to school until his sentencing. The court has now ruled the student can continue attending classes and remain free on bail while his attorney presses for a jury trial.

RIVERBOAT GAMBLING (H 4945) A late-filed bill legalizing riverboat-style casino gambling is pending before the Government Regulations Committee. The measure is modeled after an Iowa law and allows the state racing commission to regulate the operation and payout structure for gambling on these excursion boats.

ICE ON CARS (S 1101) The Public Safety Committee has turned thumbs down on a bill requiring motorists on highways to remove all potentially dangerous snow and ice from their cars or face a $100 fine. The measure requires the removal of all snow and ice which may become dislodged and constitute a hazard to other vehicles. The bill was brought to the senate floor on April 26 but with defeat likely, sponsors managed to delay consideration until at least May 3.

A little
neighborly help.

When you need help, a good neighbor will find a way to lend a hand. (In this case, a horse.)

And helping neighbors is what we do for a living.

The one goal of our independent community bank is to support our local communities, residents and businesses.

Your deposits are put to work right here where we all live and work. They're invested in loans to help the local economy and to create local jobs.

No distant office can order us to ignore the needs of our neighbors and to invest your savings somewhere else.

Nobody can tell us not to lend you a hand — and that makes us easy to remember when you choose a bank. . .

We're the neighborly one with the horse.

Connor to chair board

By Alec G. Belisle

SUTTON - The Board of Selectmen met for their Workshop session on April 27 with all members present.

The first order of business was the customary reorganization of the board following elections which occurred on April 24.

Chairman Wally Johnson officiated at the outset of the meeting welcoming new board member James Gvazdauskas who, with Johnson, was elected to the board for a three year term.

Selectman Dana Gravison nominated Mary K. Connor to serve as chairman of the board. Gvazdauskas seconded the nomination. Gravison remarked that the re-organizational meetings are the most difficult because, "as soon as you make a nomination or vote for someone, everybody says, 'He's on this side or that side.' For the first time," Gravison said, "I really feel that we have five individual members on the board of selectmen - individual mind, individual vote, individual theory." He added that tradition in Sutton is to change chairman every year so as to give every member of the board an opportunity to serve in that capacity. He said he considered two present members of the board for chairman. He also said he has a good rapport and a good working relationship with both of them, but said he felt that after careful consideration, he would prefer Mary K. Connor as chairman.

Selectman Rick LaBonte said that the board has worked well together, and he was pleased to have Connor nominated for the position.

Connor was appointed Chairman on a unanimous vote.

Correspondence

The board was given copies of the letter Town Administrator Dexter Blois sent to the Wilkinsonville Sewer System subscribers informing them that the Sewer Commissioners voted to postpone indefinitely the May 15, 1993 deadline for paying their sewer privilege fees. According to the letter, the commission wants to do more research into town records regarding the fees. Blois said that he or the commissioners will correspond with subscribers and inform them that no municipal liens have been recorded against any property at this time.

The board discussed a letter from Sean M. Hurley, vice-president of Noel Development Company, regarding the sewer privilege fee at the Highlands. According to the letter, Hurley said it is his opinion that no sewer privilege fee "is due or even applicable to this development." Hurley said it is his belief that the intent of the by-law was not to penalize anyone transferring ownership of the property. "I interpret the by-law as the Town would waive the fee if another party, other than the Town, pays for the associated costs of installation of the sewer," Hurley wrote. "This is consistent with the circumstances of our other town development, Pine Ridge Estates."

The board also received a letter from Jon D. Pearson who said he felt the sewer privilege fee was "an unfair method for collecting funds for our sewer upgrades." He went on to state that some residents are assessed a very high fee while others are not. He characterized the process as "taxing the unlucky." The letter makes several recommendations to the sewer commissioners.

Town Administrator's Update

Highway Department Projects: Blois notified the board that the Highway Department is about to undertake work along Central Turnpike from Rt. 146 to the Douglas line. He said Sutton has received a grant for the work but has to have the monies spent by June 30. Blois said the highway department will be under pressure to complete the ambitious project but feels it can do so within the time period. The grant is for $400,000 for salaries and materials needed to do the resurfacing work.

Unity Park: newly-elected Recreation Commission members Elaine Wilson and Phil Berube came before the selectmen with Fran Dudley who explained the remaining work to ready Unity Park for use this summer.

Dudley explained that soil borings he did revealed a layer of clay beneath the top surface in one area. He said this soil would not be a good surface for the playground. He suggested removing the loam from the surface and the clay subsurface and covering the area with good gravel which is located on another area of the property. He said the clay can be sent to the landfill and used to help cap the landfill and some of the loam can be returned to the site for landscaping purposes. What is not used can be used elsewhere in the town.

Blois said the highway department will be hard pressed to provide manpower and equipment for the project because of the Central Turnpike resurfacing project.

Dudley said that a solution was to use some other equipment and do the work themselves. The commission asked only for permission to store the soil on town property until they can return it to the site or give it to the Town.

LaBonte suggested that the Unity Park volunteers contact the Earth Removal Board for permission and instructions on proper soil removal.

The board spent the remainder of the meeting going over the warrant and deciding the recommendations for the May 3 town meeting.

The board adjourned at 11:30 pm.

HERE . . . THERE . . . EVERYWHERE

Bits 'n Pieces

. . . Joe Morin

Peace and Salutations to All!

Gotta tell ya this one before I proceed: a baseball manager purchased a race horse. At the horse's first race, the horse was neck and neck approaching the finish line. About three lengths from the finish, the manager could contain himself no longer. He shouted: "Slide, ya bum, slide!"

Now that we got that one out of the way, how is everybody? Fine, we hope!

IS IT SETTLED? Tired of watching that Rodney King tape? More appeals on the way? Enough is enough! SPOTTED a German Shepherd walking paw and paw with a French Poodle down Massasoit Road in Woosster! Spring has sprung! Good Grief! Now, on with the show. CABLE TV - seems the more channels they add on, the less interesting it gets. "60 Minutes," "The Waltons" and "Nat Geo," in my opinion, lead the pack of programs worth watching.

UNBELIEVABLE! The debate goes on whether to grant former National United Way chairman Bill Aramony $4M in retirement benefits. You figure that one out! HOW ABOUT that overhead highway computerized message sign normally welcoming motorists to their state; some computer hackers inserted some nasty, very nasty messages instead. Bienvenue! No class.

IN MY OPINION the time has come not to put complete faith and trust in TV news, radio or even some papers. Fabrication, ratings, being number one seems to be the overriding element today. Deceit, fabrication has no place in the reporting and presentation of the news. The people will not accept it, not tolerate it. As for my writing, you can take it with a grain of salt! Ayupp! A lot of the material you read here is of my opinion, no one else's. Lot of it is "tongue in cheek," that's obvious, that's the way we want it, we enjoy doing it, we tell it the way we see it, and from the comments we've been receiving, you agree with me. I thank you for that.

CLANCY LOWERS THE BOOM! As of this writing, the good people of St. Joe's are still in their church, praying, meditating, hoping for a miracle, but the man in charge will be giving them 48 hours to exit. Lord, there's got to be a way. Maybe the new bishop will have other plans to get this Diocese back on track and functioning again.

FRIENDS, will you permit me to share an experience with you? I attended the Good Friday Services at St. Joe's in Worcester, you know, the "problem" church that's been in the news these past few months. What was so different attending this service from those we've attended in the past? The fact that this beautiful church might some day be demolished? Was it the fact that it has been over 40 years since we attended a Good Friday Service at St. Joe's? Nostalgia? Coming home? Was it the vastness of the church, its simplicity? Was it the cross that was lying on the floor with a box of nails next to it where we all were called upon to pick up the hammer and affix our nail to the cross? Was it the reading of the Passion of Our Lord by laymen who read it so beautifully and with dignity and meaning? Was it the St. Joe's choir and organ that resounded and could be heard throughout the diocese? Was it the gathering around the altar, at communion time, where communion was not available to God's people; a spiritual communion emanating from the hearts and souls of the good people of St. Joe's. A deep hurt was felt by the people, knowing that there were no priests available to officiate because the church is officially closed, does not exist. But it does exist. Only God knows what the outcome will be. Not many religious services have left such an everlasting impression in my mind and heart as did this Good Friday service at St. Joe's; the simplicity of it, the deep spirituality of the people, the honesty of it all. There was something there that night and Easter Sunday; hard to explain. There was beauty, a togetherness, a presence, sacred ground, a holy people. With what we saw that night and Easter Sunday, the thought that someday there would be a shortage of priests, we say, not to worry. With the truly dedicated laymen, members of the laity, the church will be in good hands. Holy week at St. Joe's was truly memorable and touched many, many people.

Now, isn't it time that we all find a just solution to this problem? He would want that, wouldn't He?

BIG FOOT! Yessirree...that President of ours certainly has a big foot, size 13C to be exact! What's that old saying about "Putting your foot in your mouth?" Hope it doesn't happen. Hang in there, Billy.

A DIS-HONOR: how about that judge who said it was alright for that kid to return to school after stabbing and killing a guy who was fighting with his father? The judge made the [illegible] What a crazy, mixed-up world we do live in.

RUNNING OUT OF YOGURT! Pee-wee, me mutt, loves yogurt. Ok with me, he's got to lose a little weight anyhow. Now to wean him over to "eggbeaters." He's a good dog. Ya know, I sometimes think he's smarter than his master, and that ain't saying much for him!

JUST CURIOUS! How do you all out there keep your sanity what with all the goings-on in the world today?

THEY'RE WORKING on a high speed chase law where there would be a stiffer fine for the chasee, not the chaser. In other words, we won't break our necks getting you to stop, but when we get you, into the slammer, a fine. They may have their rotten apples, but the business of being a cop today is a tough business to be in. Ya gotta give 'em credit, mo matter what!

CAR PARTS, A HUB CAP, A BUMPER: all that debris was left on the small island on Rte. 20/Massasoit Road. Another accident, we imagine. How many more hits and misses will it take? All we can do is talk about it, write about it. It will take the death or injury of one big shot, lord forbid, before something is done to correct this wrong. What a sight to see those cars racing up and down, trying to beat the light; going right through the lights; a catastrophe waiting to happen.

GOBBLE! Picked up one of those in-house turkey dinners, ya know, the ones wrapped up in plastic; one slice of turkey you could see through when placed in front of a bulb, so thin. A ton of bread stuffing, but where's the beef? Oops! Where's the turkey?

NOT SNOW WHITE? A naughty lady? Nay, nay! But some school officials and sociologists say she was, what with her living with seven dwarfs, for shame. She is setting the wrong example for our kiddos! Good grief! Now they'll be outlawing the three stooges for being so violent. Moe, Larry, Curley, you're all right in my book.

SO WHAT'S THIS ABOUT a value added tax? A tree is taxed before it's cut; the boards are taxed from the tree; another tax is added onto the chair that's made from the board; the manufacturer adds another tax on the finished chair; the wholesaler adds still another tax on the chair; the retailer, finally, adds his tax on the rocker. And we are knocked off our rocker when it comes time to purchase this value added item, and on and on it goes. Stupid! Dumb! Unwise!

"KILL THE BUMS!" "Break his back!" "Run over him!" "Use the stick!" "Beanball him!" How many times have we hard fathers and other adults yelling, screaming at sports events, wishing some of the other team members were [illegible] of these sports events is something to behold, even on TV. What an example we, as adults, are setting for our youth. Something is wrong!

bungled from the beginning. Poor planning, unnecessary shameful deaths...that tobacco/firearms unit needs a lot of training, leadership so that something like this will never happen again.

WAS SURPRISED and sad to hear that there are many who are dying for lack of an organ: kidney, heart, liver. Something to think about, isn't it? What better way is there than to donate part of your person to someone else so that they may live.

HOW MANY more outlets can we handle? Sam's, BJ's, a lot of 'em dotting the countryside. Only the strong will survive. Service, price, accessibility will be the key factor.

DID YOU KNOW that we work three to four months for the government? Yupp! That's what it takes to pay off all our tax bills, both state, federal, etc, that are inflicted on us. And, they are talking about that stupid Value Added Tax! How much more can and will the average guy take? The Publicans sayeth that the President and his crew have an "Incurable Tax Syndrome: they sayeth that, not I. In my opinion, they're all a bunch of Bozos!

PATENTS which will never be issued: a two-story outhouse, a helicopter ejector seat, a screen door for submarines, a solar powered flashlight, a video to show you how to set up the VCR; do you believe it?

FRIENDS! I hope that I didn't bore you with that reflection story included with this column. If I did, I apologize. I realize that there are some of you who could care less about what's going on at St. Joe's, and justifiably so. It was written with the thought in mind that it may well happen again, this time in your parish. And parish consolidation is a' coming friends. Many of you will be deeply hurt, saddened, but you have to take a stand, do all you can to preserve YOUR Church. You have the duty, responsibility, according to Vatican II, to be heard. You ARE the church.

That's it 'til we meet again. So much going on in the world today, hard to keep up with all the hullabaloo. Tough world to be growing up in, but ya gotta have faith. Take one day at a time, do the best you can, smile more often; care more often; share more often; mediate more often; give of yourself more often. Things will turn around.

Catch you later,

Your friend, Joe Morin

Another Point of View

No More...No Less

By Lawrence Moore

The Civil War is not over!

Not the GREAT Civil War of 130 years ago, but rather the one which has been going on ever since the colonies, reacting against the Intolerable Acts in 1774, adopted the "Declaration and Resolves," setting forth the people's right to "life, liberty and property." Although agreeing among themselves on their desire to be free of domination by England, they seemed to disagree then, and do until today, on almost every aspect and nuance of their free government. Even in 1776, when on July 4th the Declaration of Independence was proclaimed, unanimity was not at hand.

From the very beginning of democracy in the United States, disagreement, dissention and division have been acceptable and customary. From the very beginning, Alexander Hamilton felt the states had been given too much authority; James Madison insisted that authority to govern be constitutionally guaranteed, but in his infinite wisdom added "Ambition must be made to counteract ambition."

Ratification of the Constitution hinged on the adoption of a Bill of Rights, reserving powers to the States not "expressly delegated" to Federal authority. Notwithstanding, Hamilton and Jefferson never agreed. The two party system pitted the Federalists against the Democratic Republicans, and congressional infighting was at least as tumultuous as it is today. Public agitation by 1795, in the words of George Washington "was higher that at any time since the Revolution."

In 1798, when in response to the John Adams favored passage of the Alien and Sedition Act, Jefferson denounced it as a "gag law," a Federalist editor retorted, "Nothing can so completely gag a Jeffersonian Democrat as to restrain him from lying. If you forbid his lying, you forbid his speaking."

In 1804 Hamilton's opposition prevented Aaron Burr from being elected Governor of New York. Hamilton had called Burr "a dangerous man" and one of whom he entertained "a most despicable opinion." Challenged by Burr, Hamilton was killed in a duel at 10 paces, making today's Washington skirmishes almost Sunday School picnics.

James Madison, unable to control Congress or shape public opinion, succumbed to the "war hawks" committed to redeem national honor and agreed to the War of 1812 with England, during which, among other indignities, Washington, D.C. was burned. Little known is the secession movement, started in Hartford, fired by the dismal war and lack of faith in the Union, and cooled only by the Treaty of Ghent ending the war.

Slavery remained a divisive issue, in spite of the Missouri Compromise of 1820 (considered by some to be inconsistent with the principles of the Revolution), and continued to inflame opponents and proponents. Disagreeing on this and other vital issues, the North and the South took up arms, resulting in more deaths in the Civil War than in the Second World War.

Summing up the early history of the United States, a historian wrote, "The United States had avoided destruction from without. Could it avoid disruption from within?" The history of our country is replete with never ending internal struggles. Today's problems are no less and no more serious than were those at any time in our two centuries of democracy. They're different, and to us living in the present, they seem as insurmountable as must have seemed those faced by our forebears. Generation after generation, natives or immigrants, race upon race, the haves and the have-nots, the sick and the well all somehow seemed able to resolve, often not without pain, their problems. And so shall we. What agony and turmoil we live with, as did the man who escaped death, is better than the alternative.

Voters say 'Yes' to Recall

MILLBURY - Nineteen percent of the town's eligible voters turned out for the Annual Town Election on April 27, with the majority giving a thumbs up to the ballot questions on recall and referendum petitions. In contested races, incumbent Terry Burke Dotson retained her seat on the Planning Board, coming in two votes shy of Edward J. Cooney, Sr. whose 612 votes guaranteed him a seat on the board as well.

In other races, School Committee candidate Robert P. Picard had an impressive showing for a newcomer against incumbent Chester P. Hanratty, Jr. who garnered 665 votes to Picard's 585.

Richard J. Boire topped a list of three for a seat on the Board of Health, edging out Arthur Moore by 40 votes. Newcomer Ronald M. Festa received a total of 149 votes.

In the race for Parks Commission, Brian K. Gasco received 282 votes more than his oppponent, William J. Havalotti.

The only other contested race saw Regina Bleau and Karen A. Kenary retaining their seats as Library Trustees over newcomer Elizabeth Thurlow.

Results by precincts for all races and ballot questions were as follows:

put into studying the committee's Rte. 20 access road was not equal to the attention given the MBTA's Rte. 122 access road. They called for more effort and energy in that direction. They also noted that the Committee strongly opposes the Rte. 122 access proposal and sees it as a detriment to the residents in the area given the projected traffic increase such an access road would generate in a narrow area.

Citizen's Advisory Committee member Howard Murphy then asked why there was a sidewalk proposed for the Rte 20 access road but none for the 122 access road.

Herlihy said he couldn't say.

James Eng said that would come into play when the design phase is at 30%.

Herlihy said there has to be more study on the Rte 20 access road. "We expect higher costs at Rte 20," he said.

Senecal remarked that by placing the access road on Rte 20, there would be no displacement of people. One family would be displaced with the Rte 122 access proposal.

Vernon said that in the case of the Mansfield MBTA station, there was generally an increase in property values in the area. "At some point," he said, "it could happen here." Vernon also said that in most cases, traffic is gone in 5-10 minutes, "especially at night," while during the early morning hours it takes a little longer. "It has not seemed to be a problem for neighbors in Mansfield and other station areas," Vernon said.

Bianculli countered Vernon's remarks by stating that he had looked at the minutes of a meeting in Mansfield that took place last May that showed the Mansfield Town Manager voicing concerns with poor traffic circulation in the town and complaints about parking in the area of the station. "The Police Chief notes he hasn't the personnel or funds to deal with traffic control," Bianculli said.

Vernon responded that the traffic dissipates within 5-7 minutes and said the problem relates to access to the MBTA through a neighborhood. He said a driveway-type access road would not create a problem. He also said that maintenance depends on the type of arrangements and negotiations made with the town. Some towns collect parking fees and split the fees with the MBTA.

Kollios said he has backed the MBTA proposal for five years and was concerned with a town meeting warrant article scheduled for action on May 4 where voters were to be asked to decide whether or not they will support an MBTA station in Millbury. He also said he was concerned about the lack of information coming to the advisory committee.

Kollios, Amorello and O'Sullivan then noted that the MBTA, as a result of a recent study showing low projected ridership in Millbury, is suggesting that the proposed Millbury station be dropped from this round and possibly be looked at in the future. Kollios asked that the door not be closed to any station being located in Millbury in the future.

Vernon explained the study projects a ridership figure in 1995 of 108 people, 122 in the year 2000, 136 in the year 2005 and 155 by the year 2010. He also noted that in the year 2010 a parking lot of 200 spaces is projected to be needed to handle commuter parking. "I am not in a position to say whether the MBTA will want a station there," Vernon said. He noted the dollar values for construction for either a Rte 20 or Rte 122 access road will need a "selling job."

Millbury Town Planner Steve Bishop said there were other considerations to take into account such as capital improvements and ridership potential once the Rte 146/ Turnpike Interchange project is completed.

The Advisory Committee expressed its concerns that the Millbury Station will become a regional station and used mainly by people from Worcester.

Bianculli said people on the east side of Worcester would come to Millbury since it would be easier than going to downtown Worcester.

O'Sullivan acknowledged that concern but said he believes that most people using the commuter train in Millbury would come from the north end of Worcester. "The object is to get people to come into Worcester and not to Millbury," he said.

Bianculli referred to the projected ridership figures and noted that the ridership figures for Grafton are marginal and are somewhat lower than those for Millbury.

Amorello said the proposed site in Grafton for an MBTA station is at the Tufts University Campus which is developing a bio-tech park. He said there will be a link-up with a multi-million dollar facility in Boston in the area of South Station.

Kollios again asked that the options for a Millbury station be kept open by voting for indefinite postponement on Article 5 at the May 4 special town meeting.

Lavallee said the Advisory Committee voted not to go along with a Rte 122 access road and did not vote disapproval of placing a station in Millbury.

Selectman Gerry Bleau said the Board of Selectmen voted to support the position and recommendations of the Millbury MBTA Advisory Committee only and did not vote, as Kollios suggested, against locating a station in Millbury. Bleau did note that he was personally against any station being located in Millbury as he sees no advantages to the Town. He said if you look on a map you will see that a tiny portion of the commuter rail will run through Millbury in the farthest most northerly corner of the town.

Kollios asked if the selectmen had voted not to site the station in Millbury. He was told they had not.

Bleau also said he did believe the warrant article would be binding on future town meetings.

Kollios said his concern was that if the town meeting voted against locating a station in Millbury, later on down the line the MBTA may feel the town is not in favor of it and that would end any proposals. He also said, "generally speaking" there are benefits from such a station as property values go up "generally." "Realtors like that," he said. "There can be economic spinoffs."

Bianculli expressed skepticism about the economic benefits to Millbury given the location of the proposed station, and said if there were any benefits, they would be minimal. He and other advisory committee members again expressed concerns that they still have not received the information they hoped to have prior to the town meeting.

Mancini apologized for the delay, saying he thought the consultants were following through with keeping the town updated. Amorello faulted the consultants for the lack of communication. He also said he addressed that concern recently with Governor Weld.

Mancini said he would go back to his superiors, saying that if monies are needed to go forward on further studies, including test borings of the alternate access road, that that be done and the design following the Environmental Impact Report be put on hold at 30%. "It's anticipated the commuter rail service to Worcester will be completed in 1995," said Mancini, "at a cost of $120 million which could go higher and delay in reaching that time schedule could occur."

In response to questions concerning assessments to Millbury, Vernon indicated that, at present, Millbury would not be assessed as it is outside the MBTA's district. "I would be lying if I said that wouldn't change," he said, "as we are relying more and more on the Legislature for our funding. Presently we are operating with regard to assessments on a law presently in force that could be changed."

Senecal asked about funds for the study and test borings of Rte 20 as an access road to the proposed station?

Mancini, noting that budgets are tight, said that if more money is needed they would have to go back to the budget department. Regarding the test borings, he said that item would have to be looked at with the consultants and their contract. "If need be," he said, "maybe monies will have to be shifted over to that work." He assured the committee that studies will go on with both the Rte 20 access and Rte 122 access taken into consideration.

Senecal asked if in the future the committee will be kept updated. He was given assurances that communications will improve.

Amorello said Edwards and Kelsey have been doing a "crummy job" and have not responded to questions. "Meetings have been frustrating and not productive," he said. "They have not been informing people as they were told."

Bianculli pointed out that several more questions were faxed to the MBTA over a week ago, with still no response. He also asked for a copy of the most recent amended agreement the MBTA has with the Montachusett Station in Fitchburg. He said that agreement raises several questions.

James Eng said the answers to the committee's questions and the updated Montachusett agreement will be sent to the committee within the next two weeks.

Reflections from the Clergy

This week's "Reflections" was written by the Rev. Jane Haley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, Millbury.

With the celebration of Mother's Day, we all remember, give honor or pay tribute to our mothers. Mother's Day is such an emotional time. We can either be grateful for all we have been taught, all the love that has been given, or we can long for all that we imagine we have missed.

Motherhood doesn't come naturally to everyone, and it is no guarantee of a perfect life. As children, we can look to our mothers and say, "Isn't she wonderful, she's doing the best that she can." And as mothers, we need to be gentle on ourselves and believe that we are doing the best that we can.

Even the institution of motherhood has changed over the years. Thanks be to God for all mothers, for caring for the children given them by God!

This Mother's Day I would like to say something especially to single mothers because I am one myself. No matter how we come to live with children, it is a special place to be. There is not enough space to share all the unique challenges that we face, of providing emotional, physical and financial resources to our children. I don't have it all figured out either, but I know that the place I am called to be is with my children, and then, as soon as they become the center of my life, I am called to let them go. it is an incredible balancing act that we must do.

We choose and we don't choose to be single adults with children. It isn't a matter of being mother and father to our children. It is the issue of being the best parent we can be. Decisions may have to be made alone, sorrows may have to be faced, explanations given without being able to consult a "significant other," but we are doing the best we can, and God appreciates all our efforts even if our children do not, at the moment.

My church family is accepting and supportive of my family. The atmosphere of any church should provide a great place to be together and give our children all the role models they need. The church should work at being as open and accepting as God is.

Here is a prayer for the single parent:
When my patience seems too short, help me stretch it...
Teach me how to meet a crisis with a smile...
When I'm running out of quick and clever answers,
Let the questions stop for just a little while...
When it seems as though the day has too few hours in which to do the things I have to do,
May I always find the time for what's important - time for listening, time for love and laughter, too.
Happy Mother's Day to all!

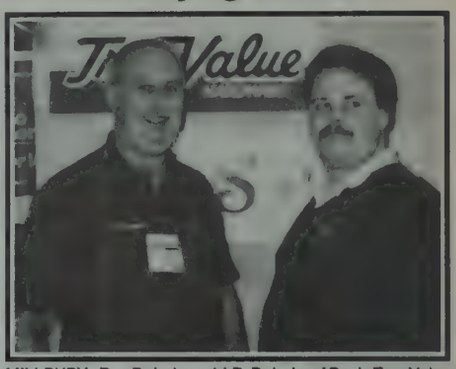
Local retailer attends national buying market



MILLBURY - Ray Dubois and J.R. Dubois, of Ray's True Value on South Main Street, recently attended Cotter & Company's National Spring Red Carpet Buying Market in Chicago, IL. Ray's True Value is one of over 6,800 independently owned and operated True Value Hardware and V&S Variety retailers in the U.S. and abroad.

Over 1,200 manufacturers exhibited their products and programs, often with special pricing that enables Ray's True Value to offer customers more competitive prices on True Value's exclusive brand of quality products as well as on other known brand name products.

"In addition to all of the new products and programs that help us serve our customers, the market gave us a chance to talk with other True Value store owners and with Cotter & Company advisors about ideas and developments in the industry," said Dubois. "We also learned of new and better ways to give our customers the service they expect."

One of the new programs Ray's True Value signed up for was the Triad store computerization system. The system allows the store to process sales faster and manage inventory more efficiently.

"Triad is going to be a lot of help to us," Ray Dubois said. "Customer will be able to get through the checkout faster. It will also help us maintain competitive prices by handling our merchandise more efficiently."

Audit

The Committee approved allowing the Superintendent to begin the process of having an independent auditor look at the revolving accounts.

Superintendent Richard Palermo said he has contacted three auditing firms, including the independent auditor the town contracts with, Brown and Barrett. He said Brown and Barrett have indicated they would meet with the individuals involved in revolving accounts for free over a half day period to discuss the scope of the audit. The anticipated fee for what Brown has indicated might include a two day period of auditing, and could cost $500 or less, Palermo said.

Candidates for Principal

Palermo said he will be making on site visits to the places of employment of the three finalists for the position of high school principal. Principal Dan Carmody will be retiring August 31. The interviews will be conducted in open session. Following the interviews, Palermo will make his recommendation to the Committee. The interviews will be held May 12 at the high school starting at 6:30 p.m. in 45 minute intervals.

Mary Bonner, Principal at the White Brook Middle School, Easthampton will be interviewed at 6:30 p.m.. She will be followed by Dr. Stephen Mills, Director of Alternative Programs at Shrewsbury High School at 7:15 p.m. Dr. Michael Jones, Assistant Principal at Algonquin Regional High School in Northboro will be interviewed at 8 PM.

Budget

The Committee will be going into the Town Meeting with a school budget 1.18% over the level funded budget requested by the Finance Committee.

Palermo said there has been an unanticipated increase in Special Education expenses for two foster children who will be attending a COFFEE Program in Oxford at a cost of $9,300. Another student will be attending the Franklin Perkins School at a cost of $35,000. He said the figures could change in September if the children are placed elsewhere by the State.

Committeewoman Barbara Tuttle moved to make additional cuts in the budget by cutting the stipend for time keepers for basketball games from $35.00 a night to $17.50 and ticket takers from $40.00 to $20.00 per night which was approved 4-1 with Hanratty opposed.

Clawson asked that consideration be given to making some cuts in supplies as was done last year and later replaced with $100 per pupil money received from the State. He anticipates receiving the same amount per pupil this year after the State approves the Educational Reform Program.

Palermo asked that that item be held until he could go back and look over the supplies account. "I am hesitant to cut $76,000 from that account to make up the difference to reach level funding," he said, "but I would rather do that than cut staff."

Clawson also suggested that the Committee look at cutting the heat and utilities account as the budgeted figure for heating oil is 73.5 cents per gallon. Generally, the cost has been 59 cents per gallon. "That could be cut $10,000," he said.

The Committee was to meet prior to the May 4 Town Meeting to make any final decisions on the budget.

Tuttle also made a motion to cut $560 in medical supplies from the Athletic Budget. Her motion was approved 5-0.

Miscellaneous

- The Committee accepted, with deep regret, the early retirements of Janet Connor, assistant cook at the Elmwood St. School, Rene Hall, assistant cook at the Shaw School and Virginia Anderson, bookkeeper in the Business Department at the Central Office. They will be taking advantage of the Early Retirement Program approved by vote of the town meeting and the Board of Selectmen. All retirements will be effective on May 21, 1993.

- Palermo announced that Community Reading Day went well with 50 readers involved, including two school committee members.

- The Lions Club has pledged a sum of $5,000 to help train the elementary teachers in the Quest Program.

- Family Fun Night netted close to $1000.

- Erin O'Leary and Rachael Kupcinskas have been recognized as High Scorers on the National Merit Test.

- Business Manager Sue Pierce reported that vandalism occurred at the high school garage on April 23. Two vehicles in the garage received windshield damage, which will be covered by insurance. Two CB radios also were taken but are not be covered by insurance.

The meeting adjourned at 9:25 p.m.

Sutton Lions seek nominations for 'Citizen of the Year'

SUTTON - Since 1988, the Sutton Lions Club has annually recognized a resident of Sutton who has made an extraordinary contribution to the quality of life in the Town. "Dedication, determination and a compassion for people are common characteristics of The Citizen of the Year award," said Jerry Anderson, Club President. "We feel that this is a most appropriate way to recognize members of our community who may not otherwise receive the appreciation they deserve for a job well done in the spirit of benefitting others."

Past recipients have included the Leo Moroney Family (1988), Evelyn Shaw (1989), Mary Arakelian (1990), Martyn Bowden (1991) and Leona Dona (1992).

Nominations from the Sutton Community are welcome and should be sent to Phil Whitney, Club Secretary, at 7 Dudley Lane, Sutton, MA 01590. All nominations must clearly state why a particular individual is being recommended for this award. A presentation will be made at the Club's annual Awards/Officers Installation Dinner on Saturday, June 19 at a Worcester restaurant. The deadline for nominations is May 22nd.

From My Window on Farnsworth Court

By "Pastor Rae" Cameron

This week I collected my last pay check after 39 years of ministry, and I was only unemployed one day in all that time. Millbury Baptist Church is allowing me to remain as their Pastor even though I will be collecting my retirement. They will continue to provide housing and professional expenses as well as putting retirement monies into an annuity. Also, they will give me three months vacation time; two months in the summer and the other month spread out over the year. I, in turn, free them from having to pay a salary. Someone has said that it was a "win-win situation."

Serving my Lord has been very exciting and, as my wife says, it has never been boring. It has left me with friends all over Maine, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York and now here, in Massachusetts. Mine has been an expository ministry in which I have had the privilege of not only preaching and teaching the Word of God, but also of bringing it to shut-ins, those hospitalized, many in need of its counsel, in French to those in Canada and Haiti, and many other opportunities.

This summer, I look forward to two months at our cabin way back in the woods of Maine. I also will be visiting with many of those friends I mentioned, and relatives.

My gratitude to the church people who have made all of this possible. They are a very loving and caring congregation. Special "thanks" to the treasurer who has not only made out my pay checks but has also had to deal with retirement accounts, medical accounts, professional expenses, and the many government regulations. I am glad I will be staying here in Millbury as I have come to love this place very much. Amen.

Driver needed

SUTTON - The Sutton Nutrition Center urgently needs a Meals on Wheels driver for the Sutton Route on Wednesdays. Training will be provided. Could you give one hour to deliver homebound seniors their hot noontime meals? If so, contact Joanne Miedema, Meal Site Manager, at 865-9798 at the Sutton Senior Center, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, or Friday.

Garden Club Elects Officers

GRAFTON - The Grafton Garden Club recently elected the following officers for 1993-94: President, Mary Gustafson; Vice President, Denise Worden; Secretary, Grace Potter; Treasurer, Elin Doehner. The annual meeting and tea will be held Tuesday, June 8, at noon at the home of outgoing President Judy Maynard.

On May 11, club members who have signed up for the bus tour to Arnold Arboretum in Jamaica Plan should meet in back of the Grafton Municipal Center at 8:30 a.m. This will be a rain (light) or shine walking tour so comfortable shoes and a raincoat or umbrella should be considered. Forward the $10 bus charge to Treasurer Elin Doehner before May 11. Lunch will be available at Daylis on Washington Street in Jamaica Plain.

Another walking tour is planned for May 25 to Garden In the Woods in Framingham. Members and guests who have signed up for this trip should meet for car pooling behind the Grafton Municipal Center at 9:15 a.m. An admission and tour fee of $9 must be paid on arrival. Lunch is not available nor included, but a list of restaurants along the route will be provided.

All members are asked to lend assistance on May 15 when the Annual Scholarship Plant Sale will be held on the Grafton Common from 10 to 2. Donations of herbs, perennials, shrubs and raffle table items are needed. New additions this year will include a bake table and a hot dog and hamburger concession.

Moore to reply to Channel 5 Editorial

UXBRIDGE - Rep. Richard T. Moore will appear on a Channel 5 "Editorial Reply" scheduled to be aired May 11 at 6:57 a.m.; 12:28 p.m.; and 6:55 p.m. Moore will respond to a WCVB-TV editorial which supported President Clinton's National Service proposal.

Moore, as chairman of the Massachusetts Democratic Leadership Council, noted that his organization not only supports the President's plan, but has introduced state legislation for a Massachusetts counterpart to Clinton's service for education aid plan.

Moore's reply makes the following statement:

"Recently, Channel 5 endorsed President Clinton's national service proposal, so long as its initial scope and bureaucracy are limited. The Massachusetts chapter of the Democratic Leadership Council not only supports national service, but has proposed a state version of the public service for education concept in House Bill 4645, currently before the Legislature's Education Committee.

"With our service-for-financial aid program, students of any income level are eligible. We can assist middle-class families who, with escalating college costs, have been left out of most government-sponsored financial aid programs.

"In the DLC plan, some state scholarship funds would be earmarked for public service opportunities. And the program will be run by the already existing Higher Education Coordinating Council, not by creating another bureaucracy. It will encourage service before starting college, but be flexible enough to accommodate graduates as well.

"To date, 53 legislators have cosponsored this bill along with the Massachusetts DLC. We urge channel 5's support and call on the Legislature to act swiftly on our state level program, and we encourage Congress to do the same with the President's national service initiative."

Since Moore videotaped this reply, the number of legislative co-sponsors of the state bill has grown to 60.

A Healthy Environment

MILLBURY - A "Health Awareness Day" fair on April 24 co-sponsored by the Millbury Lions Club and the District Nursing Society offered local residents a variety of free health screenings. Among those on hand for the Fair were two of four winners of a poster contest held in conjunction with the Fair. Making an award presentation to Carissa Mercure and Lea Savasta were Dr. William Spang, representing the Lions Club, and Ann Campbell of the District Nursing Society. Not present for the photo were contest winners Amanda Perkins and Kristen Perry.
